

Table Settings: Food Conversations at Schwarzman Center

October 27
5:30pm

Food Conversations will be an engaged conversation dinner designed by four world-renowned chefs who will talk with students about significant issues and trends in today's changing world of food. The chefs will design a multi-course dinner for students' enjoyment and discuss fundamental questions, such as: Where does our food come from? What does it mean to eat well? How does food affect our sense of community and identity, in addition to our health and happiness?

Go to schwarzman.yale.edu
for more information about the event.
Registration begins on October 10.

